SYNOPSIS OF INTERNATIONAL COMIC CARTOON

Goldwyn #840-

Entitled

JUDGE RUMMY in

"TOO MUCH PEP"

Picture opens showing Judge Rummy reading a newspaper. He is attracted by an article which reads: "All famous men had frivolous wives". It affords relief after a hard day's work. This gives Rummy an idea and going into the next room, he tells his wife that she is too old fashioned, that she should be frivolous and foolish, as the wives of all great men. She is puzzled and heart-broken and leaves the room. Silk Hat Harry, Judge Rummy's friend, now calls on the Judge and they both indulge in a cigar. While smoking, a form appears dancing in a heavy veil. Both the judge and Harry are astounded but when Mrs. Rummy is revealed under the veil, the Judge makes it appear to Harry that it is quite the regular thing, and shows the newspaper to Harry.

Mrs. Rummy indulges in many fancy steps and finally annoys the Judge who finds it hard to hold his temper, and when she becomes too violent, the Judge makes his get-away, while Mrs. Rummy now explains the situation to Harry, who enjoys it very much.

The Judge, having run out of the house, crashes into a policeman who arrests him and sends him to the hospital, thinking he is insane. Mrs. Rummy, on hearing of her husband's plight, rushes to the hospital with Harry, and a reconciliation takes place with Rummy no longer in favor of the idea of having a frivolous wife.
